

Dear all,

Thank you for your children's performance last Wednesday - they were outstanding as usual and I was very proud of them as I'm sure you were too. They gave an excellent impression of the choir and there was a great deal of good feedback about the choir and the performance as a whole, from audience members - both from audience members who are connected with the choir and those not connected with the choir.

One more big ask of you and then it's the summer break (no rehearsal on 13th July). As you heard on last Wednesday we are hosting an open afternoon in our usual rehearsal slot to encourage new members to the choir. I still need the current members to attend as usual and all choir members should be prepared to look after prospective new members and make them feel welcome. I hope this will be a good way to get a few more members into the choir ready for September. It won't quite be a usual rehearsal as there will be some fun and games, with a music quiz and some prizes, but there will obviously be singing involved.

If you have any friends or brothers/sisters who would like to try out the choir, please don't hesitate to bring them along to this rehearsal, especially if they are currently in Y2 and above. I've attached a flier if you would like to email it to anyone, or post it on Facebook/Twitter as I have already done.

If you yourself are able to stay (for all or part of the session) and talk to prospective parents about what it means to be a choir parent and encourage them to let their child join the choir, perhaps help make cups of tea, that would be wonderful. Please let me know if you are able to do this just as a one off.

Thanks very much,
Emma
